MORNING, ALMS-GIVING TO MONKS AT ALEENTA PRANBURI

Tak bat means to present food to a monk or Buddhist teacher. It's an important part of culture in Thailand. The ritual of giving alms to monks is a way for Thai people to give back to Buddhist monks, who in turn dedicate their lives to teaching others about being good and virtuous. It's not charity in the Western sense. Thai people see it as a virtue Giving alms to monks is about showing goodness to others, doing good deeds and being a good person.

Join us in the alms-giving ceremony daily.
Kindly check with our Front Office for more information.
